HUDSON-FULTON GUESTS TAXING CAPACITY OF MANY.

Waldorf Prepares Sleeping Room for 2,000 and Dining Accommodations for 15,000—Commission Publishes Information Booklet—The Lawn Effect.

Hotels are beginning to feel the effect of the crowds which are sure to come into the city for the Hudson-Fulton celebration. For the most part the celebration guests have not yet begun to arrive, but many of the hotels are booked to their full capacity already, and applications are coming in every day by the hundreds.

The matter of providing for so many visitors will be somewhat complicated by the season, which is one of the busy times of the year in the New York hotel business anyhow. Families are moving back from the country now and many of them find that their city homes not quite habitable during the first few days or weeks and so stop at their favorite hotel for that period. Shoppers and buyers also crowd the hotels in September and early October, and railroads have a way of offering excursion rates to the metropolis about that time.

The celebration promises to tax every hotel to the limit. At the Waldorf there have been making over whole floors, this summer and getting ready in every way for a record. The estimate on which George C. Boldt and his assistants have laid their plans is that they will be able to give sleeping accommodations to 2,000 people and will be able to serve from 15,000 to 20,000 a day in the restaurants of the hotel.

In the other big hotels, the Plaza, Manhattan and the Hotel New York are being made in batches of ten and do so at a time, and the hotels of more moderate price are half buried under an avalanche of letters and telegrams with the same request.

The commission has published an information booklet, which is being sent about the country more or less widely and which will be handed out in even greater numbers to the crowds when the celebration begins. The booklet gives a map of the city, showing the route of the land parades and the location of official stands and anchorages of the war fleet, the booklet has a list of hotels and boarding houses with their rates and a table showing how to get to various places where special events are to be held.

This booklet is published under the auspices of the public health and convenience committee of the commission, which will operate medical stations, information bureaus, comfort stations and rest stations over much of the city. All these places will be marked with the flag of the commission, which is the flag of the celebration with the addition of green crosses and the name of the committee.

The medical stations will be of two classes—field hospitals, open day and night, and first aid stations situated along the route of the land parades and along the Hudson River front during the hours of the celebration. The field hospitals will be in charge of complete physicians and will be supplied with trained nurses. The service of these is free to the public.

Information bureaus will be operated at the leading railroad and steamship terminals, prepared to furnish information on everything from what to see and how to see it to where to eat and sleep and how to get there. The rest stations will be established in various churches, and there will be attendants at each to look after the people.

The aeronautics committee of the commission, which James M. Beck is chairman, announced last night that facilities have been secured at Governors Island through the courtesy of Major-General Wood for the airplane flights of Walter Wright and Glenn H. Curtiss. The sheds for the aeroplanes are now in process of construction at Governors Island. Mr. Wright is expected to arrive with his machine next Saturday.

The first big test of the illumination arrangements for the celebration will be made on Thursday night, when the lights on the Brooklyn Bridge, the City Hall, the Borough Hall in Brooklyn and the Washington Arch will be turned on. The illumination will last for three days and will not be repeated until the opening of the celebration.

Announcements have been made for the lawn party to be held at Columbia University on Saturday afternoon, October 2, from 3 until 6 o'clock, under the auspices of the alumni association of the United States Naval Academy and of the naval committee of the celebration commission. Among the guests at the fête will be the foreign naval officers and other distinguished foreigners attending the celebration, and officers of the United States Army and Navy.

The entire grounds of the university will be open. A reception and luncheon will be in the gymnasium, and the gymnasium will be opened for dancing. The arrangements for the affair are in the hands of Col. Robert M. Thompson, president of the Alumni Association of the Naval Academy; Capt. J. W. Miller, chairman of the commission's naval committee; Dr. G. F. Kunz, chairman of the university's committee on the celebration; and Mr. J. W. Miller, chairman of the commission's naval committee.

The list of patronesses includes Mrs. John D. Archbold, Mrs. Robert Bacon, Mrs. August Belmont, Jr., Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, Mrs. Robert J. Collier, Mrs. Paul D. Cravath, Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, Mrs. Joseph H. Choate, Mrs. Cleveland H. Dodge, Mrs. John Drew, Mrs. Robert W. De Forest, Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, Mrs. Daniel Chester French, Mrs. Edwin Gould, Mrs. George J. Gould, Mrs. Ogden Goelet, Mrs. Elbridge T. Gerry, Mrs. Abram S. Hewitt, Mrs. William Jay, Mrs. Daniel S. Leonard, Mrs. Seligman, Mrs. Philip M. Lydig, Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, Mrs. Paul Morton, Mrs. Levi P. Morton, Mrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Mrs. Morgan J. O'Brien, Mrs. Albert C. Parker, Mrs. Douglas Robinson, Mrs. Eliza B. Root, Mrs. James Stillman, Mrs. Jacob H. Schiff, Mrs. Henry W. Taft, Mrs. K. Vanderbilt, Mrs. J. R. Reginald Vanderbilt, Mrs. Henry Payne Whitney and Mrs. B. F. Youkum.

The G. A. R. posts in Manhattan and the Bronx have been designated to act as the guard of honor at the official reviewing stand during the parades of the Hudson-Fulton celebration by Major-General Charles F. Roe. There are forty-two posts in these posts and it is expected that 300 men will be gathered from them. The grand marshal of the G. A. R. division will be Capt. Thomas A. Reilly. The division will form at Fortieth street and Sixth avenue at 12:30 P. M. on September 30 and will march from there to the stands. The veterans will be in uniform and will wear white gloves.

The replicas of Robert Fulton's side-wheeler Clermont, which will go up the Hudson with a make believe Robert Fulton aboard at the Hudson-Fulton celebration, had her official trial trip yesterday from Mariners Harbor to New Brighton and back. Capt. John H. Potter was at the helm. The engine worked quite as well as the old one did 100 years ago, driving the little ship at the rate of about five knots, which was considered pretty good steam in those days, but is about twenty-one knots less than the speed of the Mauretania.

BANDS SAY THEY'LL STRIKE

Service Ultimatum on Chairman of Hudson-Fulton Celebration.

At a meeting of the executive board of the American International Musical and Theatrical Union, which is fighting for recognition and employment by the Hudson-Fulton Commission, it was made known last night at 67 St. Mark's place that a strike ultimatum has been served on Herman Ridder, chairman of the commission, which will go into effect if none of its men are hired in the parades.

Bandmaster Fanciulli, who was refused employment because he didn't belong to the Musical Mutual Protective Union, told the committee he had been referred by Mr. Ridder to the various societies who were hiring the bands. He went to the Italian society and saw a letter from Mr. Ridder warning the society that all hired musicians must be union men. The Italian society did not intend to offend the commission by disobeying its instructions and so had made arrangements with the older and stronger union.

The union claims 2,500 members in New York city alone and controls forty bands. A strike would affect not only these men but 10,000 more in the different cities of the United States.

A point of interest is that the Musical Mutual Protective Union will have to send to Boston and Philadelphia to get enough musicians to fill the contracts. The other unions are doing the work these men from outside cities will get.

CELEBRATION ELECTRICITY

Plans for Elaborate Hudson-Fulton Decorations—More Reviewing Stands.

Plans have been filed with Building Superintendent Murphy for special electrical decorations for the Hotel Netherland, the Criterion Club, the Union League Club and the Hotel Knickerbocker. The Hotel Netherland device will be a monogram with a streamer 1,000 feet long, displaying 100 lamps; the Criterion Club house will have an eagle and a shield with two flags, the design being four feet wide and thirteen feet high; the Union League decoration will exhibit an eagle, crest and crescent, the eagle being crowned with a shield four feet high and a half foot wide and fourteen feet high, and the crest and eagle being an additional height of thirty feet and twenty feet broad, the design being four feet high in the center.

The Hotel Knickerbocker will display an electric streamer 160 feet long with 160 lamps. Plans have been filed for the following parade review stands after the official display:

Society of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America, Central Park West, at Seventy-first, Seventy-second and Seventy-third streets; the Sons of St. Patrick's Cathedral in front of the Cathedral on Fifth avenue from Fifty to Fifty-third street; City History Club, Society of the Colonial Wars, St. Nicholas Society and Sons of the Revolution in Fifty-third street, from Fifth to Seventh avenue; Central Park West, Sixty-sixth to Seventieth street, the Merchants Association and the Sons of the American Revolution.

Scylla Not to Come Here for Festival.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 14.—H. M. S. Scylla, which was due to attend the Hudson-Fulton celebration with Admiral Sir Edward Seymour's squadron, is now apparently under orders to remain here.

FOOT GUARDS NOT SOLDIERS.

Connecticut Judge Refuses to Excuse Capt. Mattson From Jury Duty.

NEW HAVEN, Sept. 14.—Judge Ernest L. Simpson of the Common Pleas Court, winner one year of the Roosevelt medal for the world's record as a sharpshooter and a corporal in the New Haven Grays, decided today that the members of the Foot Guards are not soldiers.

The Foot Guard is to Connecticut what the Old Guard is to New York and the Ancient and Honorable to Boston. Capt. Mattson, who is a member of the Foot Guards, was today called in Judge Simpson's court for jury duty. He protested, asserting that he was exempt under the provisions of the state constitution, which members of the militia are not liable to jury duty, and pleaded down his beautifully engrossed commission to prove his military record.

"Why, the Foot Guards are not soldiers," said Judge Simpson. "That law relates to active soldiers, those who do active duty, fight, etc." Capt. Mattson tried to uphold the military dignity of his command, but Judge Simpson ordered that he report for duty.

The Weather.

The disturbance from the upper Mississippi Valley moved southeastward and covered the entire middle section yesterday. Rain fell in the upper lake regions and south-west into the Arkansas valley, with heavy falls in Missouri and Iowa.

There was heavy rain also in the south Atlantic and east Gulf States, although no storm was evident in that section.

CHILD MURDERER NOT CAUGHT

UTICA CRIMINAL HAS SO FAR PUZZLED THE POLICE.

Boy of 11-2 Wounded When Playmate Was Killed Dies in the Hospital—Surviving Infusino Girl Gives No Aid in Clearing Mystery—Reward Offered.

UTICA, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The man who lured Theresa Procopio, Ferdinand Infusino and Fannie Infusino from their home in this city on Sunday night and murdered the two first named is still a fugitive to-night. Rewards aggregating $3,200 have been offered for his arrest. The police are worn out after thirty-six hours of almost constant work on the case. The mystery which originally surrounded the crime has been intensified by the reticence of the relatives of the murdered children.

Up to-day the troubles of the police were increased by a man in Little Falls, twenty-two miles east of here, who called Chief of Police Brophy and District Attorney Willis to that city by telephoning that the murderer had been caught in a building in the Italian section there. The police chief and District Attorney went to Little Falls in an automobile and were met by a man who told them that he had summoned them merely to find out how quickly they could cover the distance between the two cities. The man is a lunatic and had been recently released from an asylum.

Ferdinand Infusino, the two and a half-year-old boy, died to-day, twenty-four hours after he and his sister Fannie and the body of Theresa Procopio had been found in the ravine where the murderer did his work.

The Infusino is still in a local hospital suffering from the bullet wound in her arm. The little girl has been questioned closely by the police and District Attorney Willis, but the result is disappointing. The child either cannot or will not tell who fired the fatal shots.

At first the little Infusino girl told the police that the shots were fired by a member of the Procopio family, but when the man was taken to her bedside she declared that he was not the one who shot her.

Other suspected men were brought one after another before the child to-day and in every case the little girl failed to identify them. She was asked to describe the murderer, who looked like a man, but little information could be gleaned from her on this point.

A man shot me," said Fannie yesterday to the police. "The man who shot me was washing the face of the child and her brother after they had been carried from the scene of the crime."

"Who was it shot you?" asked Mrs. Gray. Fannie answered readily, giving the name of a man. Mrs. Gray cannot remember that name, but she is sure it was an Italian name. She is positive, too, that Fannie understood fully the question asked her and that the child knew the man. Mrs. Gray was so excited over the story of the shooting that she made no effort at the time to keep the name in mind. All day yesterday and to-day she tried to recall that name. It might solve the whole mystery, but she has been so excitedly refused to answer any further questions.

The police to-night are not so certain that the Black Hand is not connected with the killing of the children. Neither of the girls were assaulted, and the work of the police is necessarily based on two theories. One is that the murderer is a man, as the friends of the dead children believe, and the other is that the murderer is a woman, as the friends of the living child believe. The police have a theory that the murderer reasoned that after the commission of his crime his countrymen could easily be persuaded to pay for the protection of their children.

TROUBLES OF THE DIXONS.

The Matter of the Custody of Their Children Before a New Jersey Court.

Application was made in Newark yesterday by Richard V. Lindabury in behalf of William H. Dixon of 4 West Fifty-fifth street, New York, to have Mrs. Josephine P. Dixon adjudged in contempt for failing to comply with an order made by Vice-Chancellor Stevens on July 24, 1907, which related to the custody of their two children. After hearing the affidavits the Vice-Chancellor appointed September 30 for a further hearing.

Ex-Supreme Court Justice Gilbert Collins filed an answer for Mrs. Dixon, in which it is set forth that she was a resident of Portland, Me., where she lives with her two children, 7 and 6 years old respectively. It is alleged that on July 21, 1909, she filed a bill for divorce from her husband, who is a Maine resident, and that she is now in the custody of her children pending the trial of her divorce case. That Chief Justice A. M. Spear of Maine has granted the petition.

YOUNG ANDRUS NOT DROWNED.

Congressman Hears That Both of His Sons in Alaska Are All Right.

YONKERS, Sept. 14.—Congressman John E. Andrus to-night received a message from Alaska saying that both his sons were all right. A despatch received last night announced that, his younger son, John Andrus, who was reported to have been drowned in the Nazina River, had been rescued and was in a boat with three other men who were in a boat that had been capsized.

Mrs. Andrus, wife of the Congressman, has been seriously ill for several weeks, and all news of the reported accident was kept from her.

Mr. Andrus's two sons, John E. Jr., and Hamlin, left on a business and pleasure trip through the Northwest at 7:30 A. M. On Sunday night at 9 o'clock they were intoxicated and changed the wires on the switchboard in the Arvada office in such a way that the despatching of trains over the Wyoming division was impossible. To orders and protests by telephone he replied with gibes and laughter and he held the fort and held up trains until 2:30 o'clock in the morning, when an officer from this city arrested him.

Meanwhile a passenger train had arrived at Arvada and stopped for mail, trip through the Northwest to be delayed. Pope was brought here and arraigned before Judge Storey, who imposed a fine and a lecture. Pope paid the fine.

PHOTOGRAPH HALLEY'S COMET.

Method by Which Prof. Wolf Located Wanderer Near Edge of Orbit.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. BERLIN, Sept. 14.—Prof. Max Wolf, who has announced the rediscovery of Halley's comet on Saturday night, says it is now situated on the border of the constellation Orion, moving slowly westward.

The discovery was made by means of the photographic process. Halley's comet has not been visible for seventy years.

HEIDELBERG, Sept. 14.—Many attempts were made to detect the approach of Halley's comet by photography during the winter of 1908-09, but they were not successful. During the summer the Zeiss reflector was much improved and another attempt to photograph the comet was made on August 29.

On these occasions vague objects appeared on the plate. Moonlight interfered with further progress until Sunday last, when after an exposure of an hour the comet appeared on the plate as a small nebula of the sixteenth magnitude. It is not doubted that the impression on the plate exposed on August 29 was made by the comet.

RELIGION AND SPECTACLE.

Gorgeous Production of "False Gods" by Sir Beerbohn Tree in London.

LONDON, Sept. 14.—Sir Beerbohn Tree produced at His Majesty's Theatre to-night an English version by J. B. Fagan of Brieux's drama "La Foi" under the title of "False Gods." It is a story of an anti-religious rising in ancient Egypt and furnishes a series of grand stage spectacles. These were presented with the gorgeous elaboration characteristic of Sir Beerbohn's productions.

It is not an actor's play, but the characters were nevertheless excellently represented. The chief part, that of an iconoclastic priest, Satri, was strikingly presented by Henry Ainley, and a blind girl, Miria, was pathetically rendered by Mrs. Patrick Campbell.

Sir Beerbohn has an expository part as a high priest. He appears only in the last act. The play was well received, but its lasting attractiveness is doubtful.

WHO OWNS LANAI?

Englishman Has a Deed to an Island With 600 Inhabitants in Hawaii.

HONOLULU, Sept. 14.—Under a deed just filed here William G. Irwin, a British subject, is the owner of the island of Lanai, in the Hawaiian group, which is now American territory. The deed was made to Irwin by Charles Cay, who acquired the island from the Territorial Government several years ago.

When Cay bought the island L. L. McCandless protested against any private person owning the land and he carried the matter to the United States Supreme court, which decided in favor of the Territory. Now the question arises whether a British subject can own an American island. Lanai has 600 population, mostly laborers.

Row Over Support of Socialistic Tax—Belief at the Congress.

LEIPZIG, Sept. 14.—Contrary to all expectation Herr Bel attended the session of the Social Democratic congress to-day. He met with a great reception. He required the support of his wife's arm when walking, but otherwise he looked well, and as energetic as of old.

The session was devoted mainly to mutual reprimand over the action of the Parliamentary party in supporting the Government's succession duties during the debates on financial reform.

CHARLES FOLLEN MCKIM DEAD

FAMOUS ARCHITECT SUCCEUMBS TO HEART DISEASE.

Was Broken in Health by the Death of His Partner Stanford White—His Name Connected With Many Noted Structures—His Honorary Degrees.

Charles Follen McKim, senior partner in the firm of McKim, Mead & White, died at noon yesterday at his home in St. James, L. I., of heart disease.

Mr. McKim had been ill since February, 1908, when the strain of work and the troubles which had come to him when Stanford White was shot by Harry Thaw had broken him in health. Under the advice of Dr. Charles Hitchcock of 57 West Thirty-sixth street Mr. McKim went to a sanitarium in Westchester and remained there for some time. His condition improved rapidly while he was there, and a few months later he was again at his office, 100 Fifth avenue.

There was a special drill by the apprentice seamen for the Prince and an informal reception for the Princess at the quarters of the Commodore and Mrs. William F. Fullam, President of the inspection of the whole station.

This evening a dinner was given in honor of the Prince and Princess by Gen. W. Fred Pierson at their Newport summer home.

The Prince and Princess with Col. Thompson will leave early in the morning for Sag Harbor.

CHARLES NAEHER DEAD.

Head of German Savings Bank of Williamsburg and Former Police Justice.

CHARLES NAEHER, for thirty years the president of the German Savings Bank of Williamsburg and for many years actively identified with Republican politics in Brooklyn, died on Monday at his summer home in Sheephead Bay of paralysis of the brain.

He was born in Germany in 1834 and came to this country in 1858 and learned the trade of metal spinner. He lived in Williamsburg and became active in Republican politics. He was elected a trustee of the German Savings Bank and nine years later became its president, retaining the position up to the time of his death.

Mr. Naehler was a member of several German societies and for more than half a century was identified with the Eastern District Turn Verein and the North American Gymnastic Union. His Brooklyn home was at 767 Greene avenue.

He is survived by three daughters. Funeral services will be held to-night and the body will be cremated at Fresh Pond to-morrow.

Obituary Notes.

Adolph Sheffel, senior member of the leather firm of Sheffel Bros. and the father of Edwin K. Herbert A. and W. N. Sheffel, also members of the New York Stock Exchange, and Mrs. M. A. Sheffel, died on Monday night at his home, 20 East Fifty-seventh street, after a long illness. He was born in Worms, Germany, in 1837 and came here with little money in 1855 as the representative of a firm in leather importing firm. Shortly afterwards he went into business with his brother Herman and established the firm of Sheffel Bros. He continued in the firm until 1883, when he went into the banking house of Martin Haas & Co., remaining there until his brother died, when he went back as the head of the leather firm. He was one of the founders of the Leather Industry and was identified with many city charities. He married a daughter of the late Edward J. King, who survives him with three sons and five daughters.

Mrs. Susan Dandridge Bowers, wife of John M. Bowers of the firm of Bowers & Sands in New York, died at her summer home at Saratoga Springs yesterday after a semi-invalidism of nearly eleven years. Mrs. Bowers was born in 1817 and was eighty-one years old. She was a member of the Episcopal Church and the Episcopal Guild. The funeral will be held on Friday at Christ Church and the interment will be made in Lakeview Cemetery, Cooperstown.

Warlike Menors Twice Tendered During Visit to Newport.

Newport, Sept. 14.—Twice to-day cannon have boomed forth national salutes in honor of the Prince and Princess Kuni of Japan, who are visitors here.

The first salute was from the saluting battery at Fort Adams, where Prince Kuni and his suite and host, Col. Robert M. Thompson of New York, went this morning to witness a special dress parade by the coast artillery companies stationed at their quarters.

The Prince got a warm welcome from Col. Walter Howe, U. S. A., and his officers, and before he left the fort Col. and Mrs. Howe tendered him an informal reception at their quarters.

The Princess did not attend the drill. Instead she went sightseeing with Mrs. J. Fred Pierson and later returned to Col. Thompson's yacht for the military and naval luncheon which was given in their honor. Among the guests at this affair were five Rear Admirals of the navy.

This afternoon the Prince and Princess were taken to the naval training station, where the Prince was received with naval honors by Rear Admiral John P. McNeill and the second salute followed his landing at this Government station.

The salute was fired from the training ship Reina Mercedes and it was also similar salutes from the three German cruisers which are at present in Newport harbor. This made in all eighty-four guns that were fired at this time in honor of the Mikado's cousin.

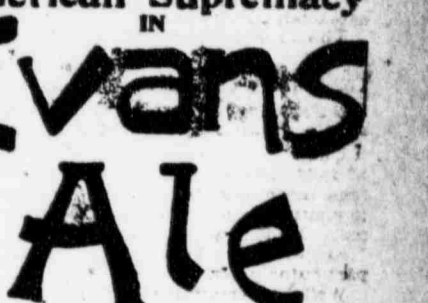

There was a special drill by the apprentice seamen for the Prince and an informal reception for the Princess at the quarters of the Commodore and Mrs. William F. Fullam, President of the inspection of the whole station.

This evening a dinner was given in honor of the Prince and Princess by Gen. W. Fred Pierson at their Newport summer home.

BRYAN RAFFS BAILEY.

Denounces Democrats Who Voted for Tariff on Hides.

DALLAS, Tex., Sept. 14.—In a speech before a big crowd here to-day William Jennings Bryan scored Texas Senators and Representatives who voted for a duty on hides, denounced them for violating the party platform pledges and for aiding Canningism.

The speech is considered as a direct challenge to Senator Joseph Bailey, although Bailey's name was not mentioned. Texas politicians in discussing the speech declare there is a strong possibility that Bryan's winter home near Mercedes, and only a short distance from the ranch of Charles P. Taft, may become his permanent residence and that the challenge to Bailey is strong enough to imply that Bryan may intend a personal campaign against him.

The story that Bryan may become a candidate for the Senate from Texas revived.

Bryan declared he had repudiated platform, but that he had always
